History & Genealogy Committee Report

There are now three genealogy collections on the web site. We have moved our families now living in Switzerland (and their ancestors) to a new Switzerland Collection, and we have moved the Spainhour families which never migrated to North Carolina to the Pennsylvania Collection. This was done to make more room for enlarging the Yadkin Valley Collection and to make it easier to continue development of the other two.

Meanwhile, we continue with research to identify descendants from our Spainhour ladies and adding that information to our Yadkin Valley Collection. Several times we have noted that our Yadkin Valley Historical Heritage is shared with many others because of the frequent intermarriages between families living in this area before 1800. I was asked to write an article explaining this. We may try to get it in a local newspaper as part of our announcing the Heritage Day Program. I include it here in the hope that several of you (who may not get it otherwise) may also want to read it.

North Carolina Cousins

Imagine a circle roughly 30 miles in diameter which includes today's towns of Pinnacle, King, and Walnut Cove on the north, Bethania on the east, Donnaha, Dalton, and Old Richmond on the West and East Bend in the south. Most of our ancestors lived in this portion of North Carolina during the years before 1800. In those pioneer days young people who were potential marriage partners usually became acquainted with each other at their church on Sundays. A horse walks at about three miles per hour. So, if you are going to visit a sweetheart, you won't have much time together unless your homes are within say six miles of each other, because six miles will require two hours getting there and two hours getting back home. Perhaps later, on reasonable roadways with a buggy and a trotter, you can make those times shorter, but roundtrips over more than about 10 miles each direction in one day remained a challenge throughout the pioneer period. That means almost everyone married a neighbor.

An example is the family of Johann Jacob Helsabeck & Eva Maria Fiscus. Of their thirteen children (born in the 1780s), nine were married: three to Spainhours, two to Kreegers, two to Doubs, one to Fulk and two to others (one son was married twice). All in one community.

So, if folks generally married within 10 miles of each other, why is the diameter of our circle of cousins three times that distance? This is because many families contained siblings who married, then established their own farms in different nearby settlements -- so the region of "cousins" grew.

Two family groups will serve as examples. One Spainhour brother (Heinrich and wife Elizabeth Lum) and one Shore (Friedrich, Sr. and wife Margaretha Schneider) came to this region in 1755 because their farms in Virginia were attacked by Shawnee Indians.. Both lived in the Walnut Cove area, then at the Bethabara Mill, then settled in Bethania in 1760. The Spainhours had two sons and one daughter (born in the 1740s). One son died in Bethania before marriage. The other son and daughter married in Bethania (to two Hausers). The Shores had three sons and one daughter. Their marriages included Ries, Miller, and Kapp. Two of their sons remained in or near Bethania. The children of their son Johann Heinrich and wife Barbara Miller included marriages with four Hausers, one Love, one Ranck, and one Lehman -- all families within Bethania or nearby. The children of their son Johannes Shore and wife Maria Schmidt included marriages with four Boeckels and two Hausers and two Ritters. The third son Friedrich Shore, Jr. and his wife Barbara Ries had a farm near East Bend, where one of their five children married Binkley and another married Mickey -- family names still resident in that community.

Heinrich Spainhour's brother (Werner and wife Elizabeth Lohner) came to this area in 1763 and bought a farm in the area of Old Richmond. Werner's first son, Johann Jacob, built his large farm in the area now called King. His 13 children with Anna Catherine Fulk found their marriage partners in the area of today's Bethania, Rural Hall, Walnut Cove, King, Pinnacle, Dalton, Donnaha, etc. They married Beroth, two Conrads, Shouse, two Helsabecks, Kreeger, Doub and Leinback. One of their daughters married immigrant John Doub -- from which all North Carolina Doubs descend and their children married Newsomes, Sprinkles, Longs, Helsabecks, etc.

Three or four generations of our pioneer families lived within this circle while waiting for a road to open across those mountains into the west. In this way, we discover that members of about 50 surname families within our Yadkin Valley circle became closely interlinked with each other.

John Jacob Spainhower Cemetery Preservation Project - Bronze Markers - Mission Complete!

Way to go! Our current MDI cemetery project is now complete. Our goal was to purchase and have installed on the perimeter of the cemetery, cast bronze replica markers of both John Jacob and Anna Catherine's grave stones. I am pleased to announce that Anna Catherine's bronze marker has now been installed and looks great!

Thanks to Carroll Memorials for a fine job! The bronze markers are "military style" and of a high quality, permanent material intended to last for decades and preserve the inscriptions for generations to come. Here is a photo to give you an idea of how Anna Catherine's marker looks - but it's much better to see them both in person!

Thanks to all who made purchases and sent donations that financed this project. A special "Thank You" to Martha Keiger, for her very generous donation to the project that put us over the top.

If you will be attending Heritage Day this year for the first time - please make an effort to visit the John Jacob Spainhower Cemetery.

Introducing..... Andalyn Grace Heller

After two miscarriages, Andalyn Grace Heller was born by c-section on February 19, 2010 at 37 weeks gestation in University Hospital in Salt Lake City to parents Jonathon and Amanda Heller. She is the great-granddaughter of Charlie and the late Mary Spainhour of Aiken, SC. She was 5 lbs 8.55 ounces and was 17 and 3/4 inches long. She spent 5 weeks in the NICU (neonatal intensive care unit) next door, at Primary Children's Hospital in Salt Lake City. During her hospitalization she underwent two surgeries, the first on 2/20/10 and the second on 3/05/10, to repair an abdominal defect called an omphalocele in which her abdominal wall never closed thus her liver was outside of her body in a thin membrane sac.

Andalyn was also born with a heart defect called Tetralogy of Fallot and was initially expected to need emergency heart surgery at birth, but did not need it due to her oxygen saturation levels being well within the acceptable range. It will need to be repaired when she is between 4-9 months of age. At that time, they will close the hole between her lower two heart chambers, widen her pulmonary valve and artery, and thin the muscle at the base of the valve to reduce the blood pressure going into her lungs. She is expected to have a complete recovery and normal life despite her rough beginnings.

Andalyn did amazingly well during her stay, consistently astounding the doctors with her rapid recovery. She was expected to need at least 4-5 interventions and 8-12 weeks to repair the omphalocele but only needed two simple surgeries and was home in 5 weeks. She came off the ventilator and pain medications in a matter of a day or two when doctors expected a week or more for each surgery. Andalyn is thriving at home and her only struggle seems to be eating her full bottles so she has a nasal gastric tube for feeding when she can't drink all she needs. Her whole experience, although not yet over, has proven to us what a miracle baby she really is and we cherish our little angel every day. Andalyn's line is: Jonathon Andrew, Debra Lynn, Charles Thomas, John Martin, Charles Martin, David James, John David, Jonathon, John Jacob. (update in next issue)

The History Committee
.....cont'd

These include (in addition to those already mentioned): Arney, Butner, Culler, Davenport, Grabs Hunter, Kapp, Keiger, Moser, Petree, Shamel, Transou, Tuttle, and several others.

Daniel Boone carved a path into Kentucky in 1769 and that path across the Cumberland Gap was opened for wagons in 1796. Wagon trains then carried these North Carolina "cousins" into Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, etc. -- where they formed new circles of settlements with still more inter-family marriages.

There are five or six generations between those living today and our early ancestors in this part of North Carolina. If we think of our family interconnections in terms of a pedigree chart, and include five generations, it will contain 63 people. Subtracting ourself and the five other people with our same surname, leaves 57 ancestors with other surnames. If the chart includes six generations it will include 120 surnames different than ours. That's room for many "cousins".

So, we can say with much confidence: "If your ancestors also came to western North Carolina before 1800 -- we are cousins."

In Memory of Family and Friends

SPAINHOUR - Dorothy Walker Spainhour departed this life on earth for a home in heaven September 24, 2009. Born to Simon Phillip and Bertha Nezat Walker on June 26, 1921 in Advance, NC, she was the widow of Ernest A. Spainhour, Jr. She was a Christian and a member of South Lexington Baptist Church. She leaves behind two sons, Gary (Ann Manus) and Philip Spainhour, both of West Columbia, SC; two grandchildren, Travis (Linda) and Wendy Ann Spainhour; two great-grandchildren, Alexis and Tristan Spainhour; one sister, Lee Orrell (John); two brothers, Melvin and Wilson (Virginia) Walker, all of Winston-Salem, NC. Mrs. Spainhour was predeceased by six sisters, Ethel Reynolds, Elsie Robertson, Margie Buckner, Agnes Rector, Helen Vanhoy, and Evelyn Walker. Graveside services were held at 2:00 p.m. on Monday, September 28, 2009 in Woodridge Memorial Park, 138 Corley Mill Road, Lexington, officiated by the Rev. Robert Jumper. Memorials may be made to South Lexington Baptist Church Building Fund, 116 Brevard Parkway, Lexington, SC 29073.
